

Personality Disorders

Presented by Brenda Watson: Brenda has achieved a Master's Degree in Psychology and is nationally certified by the American Psychotherapy Association (APA) as a psychotherapist. Brenda has 20 plus years of experience developing and implementing individual behavior support plans that are consistent with best practices and effective research. Additionally, Brenda has over 10 years of experience completing Functional and/or Behavioral Assessments for individuals with developmental disabilities.

Who should attend: Parents who have a child with an intellectual or developmental disability; family members; teachers who work with individual education plans; caregivers; professionals; and guardians and/or advocates.

What: Personality Disorders are a group of psychiatric conditions in which a person's long-term (chronic) behaviors, emotions, and thoughts are very different from cultural and social expectations and cause serious problems with relationships and work.

Mental health professionals categorize these disorders into the following types:

Antisocial personality disorder

Avoidant personality disorder

Borderline personality disorder

Dependent personality disorder

Histrionic personality disorder

Narcissistic personality disorder

Obsessive-compulsive personality disorder

Paranoid personality disorder

Schizoid personality disorder

Schizotypal personality disorder

Where: 2456 Industrial Blvd. Grand Junction, CO

When: Wednesday, December 14, 2011 from 4:00 pm – 5:30 pm.

Why: Mosaic would like to partner with parents and community members who may need services, support, or additional resources for an individual with an intellectual disability.

Please let us know if you will be joining us by calling 970.245.0519 ext. 15 or e-mail

theresa.burns-fair@mosaicinfo.org

Learn more at www.mosaicinfo.org
Like us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/gjmosaic
Follow us on Twitter at www.twitter.com/gjmosaic

Mosaic
2456 Industrial Blvd. Grand Junction, CO 81505-1315
970.245.0519